The families meet again!

We meet the family Bluf and the family Floyd again.
We start with the part of their life in which summer has ended, and autumn has begun.

Exercise 1

Lees de tekst.

After the summer holiday, both families kept in touch by phoning, emailing and writing. The Blufs have been invited by the Floyd's to spend next Christmas holiday at their place in England. They are looking forward to going there. Peter is really good at working on the computer. He's got his own website. On this site, you can see what the house they live in looks like. It is an old house in the centre of Haarlem. In the summertime lots of tourists pass by, looking at the old buildings. The house of the Blufs is narrow and tall. It is a house with four storeys. At the top of the house, there is a huge attic. This is a lovely place for Peter and Celina to play and chat with friends. Underneath the house, there is a cool cellar and at the back, there is a garden with large trees. Karin has made digital pictures of all these places.

Exercise 2

Lees wat onder de computers wordt verteld over het huis van de Blufs. Teken in elk computerscherm een afbeelding van de ruimte waarover verteld wordt.

The living room

This is a cosy place with three nice chairs and a soft couch. Molly the cat sits on one of the chairs. There is a fire place and a T.V.set.

The garden

The garden has got an old wall around it. It has got lots of plants and flowers. In autumn the leaves on the trees turn red and yellow.

Peter's bedroom

Peter has got a bed and a cupboard in his bedroom. A desk with his computer is the most important to him. He makes drawings, downloads music and chats with friends.

The cellar

Rob collects good wines. He stores them in the cellar. During winter, The Blufs also keep their canoes in the cellar.

Exercise 4

Kijk nogmaals naar Exercise 2. Vertel hier onder in je eigen woorden wat er allemaal gebeurt. Het mag in het Nederlands.

Exercise 5

In Harwich worden de Blufs opgewacht door de Floyds. Het is een vrolijk weerzien. De gezinnen stappen ieder in hun eigen auto. De Blufs rijden achter de Floyds aan. Ze gaan op weg naar het dorpje Long Avon, waar de Floyds wonen.

After some hours, the Blufs drive into a beautiful, picturesque village.

"Long Avon" they read on the sign. They see a very nice house.

First, Jacky jumps out of the car. Celina follows her from the other car. Jacky calls her mother: "Mum, hurry up, please, open the door. I want to show my room and the house to Celina." Emma smiles and says: "Alright, I am coming, take it easy". Do you want to come to the living room after the "guided tour"? Then we can have a drink together". Jacky smiles back at her mum and goes with Celina to her room as fast as she can. Colin takes Peter with him to show his computer and all his interesting stuff, also the prizes he has won with his rugby team. Suddenly they hear scratching. Colin opens the door and says: "Come in Spot, look who's here: our Dutch friend!" Peter smiles and strokes the dog on its head.

There are purple garlands on the branches.
The balls are golden and silver.
On the top is a silver star.
On the branches, pink, yellow, blue and red wreaths are hanging.
Under the tree, there are presents wrapped up in different colours of paper.
